

Opportunity	Company
The Mitani group serves the Tourism and Real Estate markets. Students will work with marketing executives to develop and test marketing strategies that will be implemented in the travel and real estate campaigns. They will use tools such as Google analytics and anterior design modeling applications.
Laboratoria is a NGO that offers computer science training to women in Chile. Interns will work with a project manager to assist in the digital design of documents for internal and external communications.
Backyard Brains develops research projects centered around neuroscience and engineering. Interns with BB will assist in on-going research and engineering projects by developing prototypes and taking data.
Meta-group is a marketing and consulting firm that helps clients develop campaigns and strategies to increase sales. Interns will learn about omni-channel marketing and assist in market research.
PLA is an industrial architecture firm that serves clients in the Santiago area. Interns will work closely with architects to help draft proposal for clients as well as work in communications with clients.
Oceana is a an NGO that works to protect the world's oceans. Students who participate in this internship will have an opportunity to assist in various projects at the administrative level.

CDI is an NGO that seeks to strengthen low-income communities by introducing information and communication technologies. They use technology to combat poverty, stimulate entrepreneurship and create innovators. Interns in this program will assist in on-going projects in administrative capacities.
Based out of Puerto Varas, Ko'Kayak is an adventure company organizes expeditions and receives clients from all over world. Nido interns will help out in the operations side of the business managing the website, receiving guests and participating in expedition logistics. There will be a cost for airfare and lodging/meals.
Los Pellines is the premier summer camping option in Chile. Interns have the option of participating as assistant guides on site. AG's will be working directly with younger campers leading excursions and facilitating group activities or can help start the new Los Pellines operations office in Santiago.	 Desde 1994 Educación para la Conservación de Nuestro Planeta
Selected interns will develop their economics and business skills by working directly with a team in Asset Management, conducting research of economic and financial markets, as well as potential stock market investments.

Interested interns will participate in creative, managerial and educational rolls and based on their interests can select between helping with international work groups, developing the website or learning more about construction.

Gain experience in the goldsmithing industry as apprentice with Ilonka. The student will help out with creating a subtle social media campaign and gain an introductory experience in the art of jewelry-making.

